RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short Items of News Gathered on the Fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

Everybody remember the chamber of commerce meeting on next Tuesday

Only forty of the fifty nine electric lights which the city contracted for are burning at night. Why?

Shipments of cotton were lively in Raleigh yesterday. The local market was firm at a standard of 12 cents.

The Raleigh street railway company has better live stock on its line than any horse car company in this country.

dog tax. The new stores of Maj. Tucker and Mr. Proctor are an immense improvement on Wilmington street. It is a pity that the whole section between Hargett and Martin streets cannot undergo a similar improvement.

The secret fraternal organizations, notably the I. O. O. F. and the K. of P., continue to boom. Several additions are made everyweek and all the meetings are being characterized by a large and interested attendance.

The wagon factory is booming; the cotton factory is booming; the ice factories are booming; the tobacco market is the material thus collected means the booming; every enterprise in Raleigh supplying of many people who are sadly booms when it is managed. There could lacking in the necessities of life. be no better reason offered for the inauguration of new enterprises.

The county commissioners did not see proper to take any steps toward paving improving the square at their recent meeting. But the board is a wisely progressive, one and the CHRONICLE will vouch for their taking action in this matter as soon as they can.

The CHRONICLE man heard some citizen's talking about "high taxes" yesterday. Before they get to condemnation on this point, let them look into matters and see what the taxes and advantages of other towns are. This method is usually a squelcher to those who feel that there is cause to complain in Raleigh.

In this age of electricity, wonder if Raleigh couldn't have electric street cars. One electric line in this State, in a smaller town than Raleigh, hauled three thousand passengers in one dull week. That was because of the quick and convenient schedules which nothing but electricity can give on street rail-

The Swift Creek Farmers' Alliance held a big pic nic and barbecue at Inwood church yesterday. They issued cordial invitations to their friends and Raleigh's delegation was a large one. Hon. S. B. Alexander and Mr. E. C. Beddingfield made speeches. The rain was rather inconvenient for the programme, but it totally failed in keeping anybody who was there from enjoying the occasion.

Pittsboro vaunteth itself mightily as seekers, who continue to arrive. Among the latest arrivals are: Miss Lida lanta, Ga. Drane, of Savannah, Ga.; Mr. Walter Hawkins, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. gists. Blake and Miss Nail, of Chester, S. C.; Mr. R. A. Sanders and family, of Johnston county; Mrs. James L. and preaching are good things PER SE, but they are sometimes abused. I guess the church I was in cost fifty thousand dollars. While I was there they resolved to build a mission chapel in west Raleigh to cost $1,300. That's all right. It's a good work to try to save souls. But say; do you know that the shadows of that church steeple fall on hungry people every day? I've nothing to say against building fine houses of worship. It may be all right. But does what we ure to the many people whe were there. call religion mean that we must put fifty Everybody carried contributions, which thousand dollars in a church building, when there will be hundreds of people within sound of the bell who will suffer for food and clothing? Can you or any other man do anything toward saving a soul in a wretchedly clad body, or which is distracted and embittered by a starving stomach. Will God recognize the supper taken from silver and gold service when people are crying for food and enlightenment? Is fifty thousand dollars in brick and mortar a greater tribute to Him than it would be if spent in supplying the needs of hungry bodies and dark minds."

"I was down on market square yesterday. I estimate that four thousand watermelons were sold from around there during the day. I saw one man have more than forty melons. He averaged about eight cents apiece for them. I asked him why he sold them so cheap. He said they were so plentiful that the price was down to nothing. He was rather bitter when he said: 'I worked hard to raise them. I have been taught | 2014. that if I would work I would succeed. I've produced more truck and melons this year than ever before, and I'm worse off than ever. I don't understand it, but that's the way I find it.' This is about what that man said. I looked at the street and saw many people passing-all apparently at work. They cents, they would remark "too high," and pass on. Many other people stood around and looked longingly at the melons. But they couldn't buy. They had no money.
